FRIDAY, DEC. 7, 1906

The United States Senate will make a hard fight against income and inheritance taxation.

It would be enjoyable if the southern cruise of the Pacific squadron, for gun practice, were to extend as far as Honolulu.

Judging from the Board of Health reports it would seem that Hawaii is regarded as a good market for stinking fish.

Free Philippine sugar is bound to come. It is only a question of time unless the Philippines fall into the hands of the Japanese.

Both the President and the Secretary of State favor subsidies for American shipping. It is one of the ways to extend our commerce abroad.

Before enacting child labor laws for the Territories, it might be well to enforce those on the statutes in States where they are flagrantly violated.

Foreign countries sell to the United States nearly eight million dollars worth of bananas every year, besides a million dollars' worth of coconuts.

The Senate may be trusted to examine into the San Francisco school question with care and deliberation. Sand-lot sentiment will have no chance against Senatorial statesmanship.

One and a half million dozen palm leaf fans are imported into the United States every year from foreign countries. Is there not an opening here for the Hawaiians to do some business?

Electrical machinery to the value of nearly six million dollars is now annually exported from the United States. Besides this, the largest American manufacturers have established their own plants in Europe.

Now that the "middle class" has been defined, who will dare to specify what portion of our population constitutes the "third" class. And who will render an interpretation of the "hau-sles"? Is it all a question of dollars and cents?

Governor Carter speaks of the Japanese educational question from the standpoint of years of actual experience acquired in Hawaii. The Californians talk of it theoretically and in litter ignorance of conditions, which they are unwilling to learn.

Commissioner Sargent is right in saying that an agent of the Territorial Board of Immigration should accompany each steamer that brings European settlers to Hawaii. They leave their homes and are absolutely among strangers for weeks. With the Tehuantepec route open there is a possibility of delay in connection between the steamers on the Atlantic and Pacific, through accident, which may involve keeping the immigrants in Mexico for a time which, however short, should be covered by a responsible official from Hawaii whose duty it would be to see that the people are properly cared for in a strange country. It is the Territory that, under the law, is bringing them, and it is to the United States that Portugal, Italy or Spain would look, in case of neglect, for damages or satisfaction.

THE PRESIDENT

Americans living in Hawaii should not allow themselves to be carried away by any feeling of antagonism toward the President of the United States at the present time. We are yet ignorant of the full text of his message to Congress, though its purport, as relating to the Japanese school question, has undoubtedly been correctly caucered here.

Treaty obligations with a friendly nation, recognized as one of the first class powers of the world, must be rigidly kept. Failure to do this would be distinctly un-American. The United States would be belittled, its honor would be questioned and its integrity besmirched. Should the President neglect his manifest duty he could be properly impeached, and those who were the first to condemn him, for maintaining American dignity in the eyes of all nations, would be the first to demand his degradation for being the medium of bringing a stigma of contumely upon the American people.

We do not believe that it will be necessary for Congress to enact laws giving to the Federal Executive power to supersede the authority of any State in the treatment of questions of an international character. Nor do we believe that Congress will enact laws permitting the naturalization of Japanese subjects, at least at the present time. The sober second thought of the Californians will nullify the necessity for the first, and there will be no insistence of the President's second recommendation. Appreciating the full force of their own municipal dishonor that is now pressing so heavily upon the San Franciscans, they will pause before being the medium of extending humiliation to the Nation, of which they constitute such a loyal element.

Let us suppose, and it is quite within the bounds of possibility, that a grave international crisis threatens the United States at this juncture; that the President, in case of failure on our part to recognize the rights accorded to Japan by international treaty, has already been offered the one alternative, is it not his duty to use every honorable effort to avoid complications that would be disastrous to our people, to our property, and to our national integrity? Did he even hint at the possibility of such a contingency, our citizens, from one end of the Union to the other, might excitedly force a condition that the President, by his more intimate knowledge of affairs and better facilities for judgment, may be trying to avoid. We do not believe that he will ever have to call upon the country's military power to compel a recognition of right and of justice on the part of California—a State that would rise to a man in defense of its country's honor.

There is no person that can accuse

President Roosevelt of an unmanly act. There is no person that can accuse him of a dishonorable deed. There is no person that can place a charge of cowardice against his name. He is loyal to the core. He loves his country and has offered his life's blood in its cause. Let us then unreservedly trust him with the Nation's care, with the Nation's rectitude and with the Nation's probity. The American people will have no cause to blush for any act of statesmanship that he may direct.

[Rifle, Garfield County, Col., The Rifle Reveille]

On Thursday, September 20, of this year, there was issued at Honolulu, Territory of Hawaii, a copy of the Evening Bulletin, consisting of twenty pages. The entire number was gotten up by the members of the Southern California Editorial Association, who were then enjoying a trip to that far-off clime. The Reveille has been favored with a copy, which will be filed away, containing as it does much valuable information about Honolulu and Hawaii, the people and their manner of living.

COFER'S REPORT

peninsula, but is capable of being transported in vessels. The theory that the Stegomyia is only infected by man and that the yellow fever virus can only effect man through the inter-mediation of this mosquito is universally accepted.

"The Stegomyia is a good sailor and, according to Guiteras, an infected mosquito can live 154 days, therefore the possibility of the transmission of the infected adult mosquito must be accepted as truth for quarantine purposes. The arrival of vessels with actual cases of yellow fever on board is, of course, not an unusual occurrence in quarantine practice.

"The solution of what might be called the Hawaiian-Tehuantepec Quarantine Problem lies in three agencies:

"First. The organization of the Public Health and Marine Hospital Service;

"Second. Internal sanitation and mosquito extermination at Honolulu;

"Third. Internal sanitation, mosquito extermination and the employment exclusively of immune stevedores in the isthmian towns.

"The Marine Hospital Service has had a great amount of experience in combating yellow fever and Hawaii may rest assured that Surgeon General Wyman is alive to the situation and will meet the latter by the operation of all modern scientific quarantine methods applicable thereto.

"The Hawaiian Territorial Board of Health has been doing steady and efficient work in internal sanitation and mosquito extermination, and if they are ever to be encouraged morally and financially in a further elaboration of the work, there will never be a greater incentive than that which is presented by this problem.

"A few weeks ago Mr. Hackfeld and Mr. Pietschauer of Hackfeld & Co., who have interested themselves to a highly gratifying and public-spirited degree in the problem under consideration, so far as it affected their steamers and the sanitary status of the two termini of the isthmian railway, showed me a letter which they had received from the president of the American-Hawaiian Steamship Company, in which many recent sanitary improvements in the isthmian towns were set forth. The information contained proved from a quarantine point of view

CITY WILL LOSE THE SAILOR'S PAY

Steamers Leave Little Money In Pay
Of Men

The following extract from Governor Carter's report to President Roosevelt should prove interesting to the merchants of the city in view of the new American-Hawaiian route:

"It is of interest, now that it is a well known fact that the sailing fleet of the past is soon to be crowded out by steamers, to state that the office of the U. S. Shipping Commissioner paid out to seamen of sailing vessels in the last six years about $325,000 and only $25,000 to seamen of steamers during the same period.

"A feature in shipping circles that has been in no way a credit to the port has been the unusual amount of distinction between seamen and vessels.
During the month of last May there were five cases tried in the United States Court against vessels in the sugar fleet. Four of the cases have already been decided in favor of the defendants while the fifth case is still pending. The parties bringing suit have been put to practically no expense while the vessels have been compelled to defend their suits at an expense of hundreds of dollars."

*****
good negative evidence as to the present non-infectiousness of the said isthmian towns, and the value of this negative evidence is still further strengthened by the fact that the Public Health reports show no cases of yellow fever in Coatzacoalcas during the six months ending June 30, 1906, and only one case in Salina Cruz during the same period, the same said case having been imported on March 18.

"The employment of immune steveers exclusively on the Isthmus is practical, easily possible, economical and of the greatest importance."

MORE WORK

"Take, for instance, the question which I was asked the other day at the meeting held here to talk over the proposed Pan-Pacific Congress. I was asked if I would recommend an appropriation by the Legislature. In order to answer such a question properly I must know just what money is available. Another matter of the same kind is the building of a filtration plant. Questions of this kind are always coming up and I should like to know as soon as possible where we stand for the coming two years.

"In accordance with a suggestion made to me by Senator-elect Coelho, I have also written to the various heads of the Territorial departments a letter asking them to start work at once on their reports for the Legislature.
This is a month earlier than it has been done in previous years and is asked with a purpose in view.

We wish to have the reports prepared at once, then printed and placed in the hands of the members of the new Legislature before the session is opened. In that way much time will be saved and there will be no need of an adjournment to consider the reports.

"In regard to sending out these reports before the Legislature assembles there is one feature which might be poor. This is that it is possible that some of the members might read the reports and make up their minds when a talk with someone familiar with the matter would give them a different view altogether from that which they have obtained from their first impressions. I believe that it will help to hurry matters with the Legislature, however, and do not think that there will be any disastrous effect from this source."

The uncollected poems of Sarah C.
Woodley, better known by her pen name of Susan Coolidge, who died in April, 1905, have been collected by her sister, Mrs. Daniel C. Gilman, and will be published by Little, Brown & Co.
Mrs. Gilman has prefaced the volume with an appreciation of Susan Cool-idge's life and work. The book will be uniform with "Verses" and "More Verses" by the same author.
